Byword, Motto, Maxim

I am the devil's advocate. I have a passion for digging deep into the root causes, and for understanding what could be, and whether or not the alternatives are for the better. I enjoy parallel solutions and exploring for unknown answers. I despise complacency and the status-quo. I strive for ideology, not for perfection, but for new understanding and adaptation. I look into the wrong answers because you grow more by learning why something is wrong than by learning why something is right.
